[Sri E. L. Raghava Mudaliar] [21st September 1956

provided for an appeal. The provision for revision of the decision by the High Court will be a great hardship on the tenants. An appeal to the District Judge or power of revision for the District Judge will be more welcome than a revision provided for under section 115 of the Civil Procedure Code, which is more illusory than real. A provision for appeal will curb the irresponsible acts sometimes of the Executive. Then, the trial is to be summary. Summary trial is not defined in the Civil Procedure Code. Some of the executive officers think summary trial is no trial at all and follow no procedure. Last week I had a peculiar experience and I would like to mention it here. A tenant defaulted to appear in court and the case was decreed ex parte. A petition was filed to set aside that order. It was argued by the opposite side that under the provisions of the Act and under the rules framed thereunder, there was no provision to set aside such an order. Such peculiar arguments are advanced. Therefore, rules should be framed to the effect that trial under the Act will be governed by the Civil Procedure Code instead of being summary. I hope the Hon. Minister will make sufficient provisions in the Bill to remedy this defect.

I thank you, Sir, for having given me this opportunity to speak.

MR. SPEAKER : The House will now adjourn and meet again tomorrow at 9 a.m.

4-30 p.m. The House then adjourned.
